Guaranty forms available

The following guaranty forms are used when an individual or an entity guarantees the indebtedness of a Borrower and are included in this system.

- The Unconditional Guaranty (Form 630071) may be used for consumer or commercial transactions when an individual or entity guarantees ALL OBLIGATIONS of the Borrower.
- The Unconditional Guaranty – Commercial – Maryland (Form 630071MD) is used for commercial transactions governed by Maryland law when an individual or entity guarantees ALL OBLIGATIONS of the Borrower. This form may not be used for consumer purpose transactions.
- The Unconditional Guaranty – Commercial – Virginia (Form 630071VA) is used for commercial transactions governed by Virginia law when an individual or entity guarantees ALL OBLIGATIONS of the Borrower. This form may not be used for consumer purpose transactions.

Caution: Although the following guaranty forms are also available, use of an Unconditional Guaranty form is always preferred over a Guaranty of Note Form.

- The Guaranty of Note (Form 630070) may be used for any consumer or commercial transaction when the guarantor guarantees ONLY the note described.
- The Guaranty of Note – Commercial – Virginia (Form 630070VA) may be used for a commercial transaction governed by Virginia law when the guarantor guarantees ONLY the note described.
- The Guaranty of Note – Commercial – Maryland (Form 630070MD) may be used for a commercial transaction governed by Maryland law when the guarantor guarantees ONLY the note described.

Reference: See the “Resolutions and Certificates of Authority” topic in the Shelf Doc System – Other Topics Help folder under the LEAD – Loan Entry and Documentation System shelf for additional information if the guarantor is an entity; the proper resolution authorizing the execution of guaranty must be in file.

Use

The Guaranty of Note – Commercial – Maryland (Form 630070MD) may be used for a commercial transaction governed by Maryland law when the guarantor guarantees ONLY the note described.

Note: The Guaranty of Note is limited to a specific dollar amount and a specific transaction (including modifications, extensions, and renewals of the original note for the transaction, as long as no new money is extended).
